

Hello pianists & teachers,

To be totally honest, I am always up for a power ballad.

I love giving empowering songs to my students and Andra Day's "Rise Up" is a personal favorite!

Life can be tough sometimes- on those days I hope you enjoy this song with your students.

Listen to Andra Day sing her song HERE.

Happy playing!

Rhonda

P.S. I'd love to hear from you!

Tips for teaching "Rise Up"

 This chord chart is transposed from the original so that it's in a more friendly key. The original recording is in Db so if students really want to play along with the original it's time to talk transposition!

 For your students who are also vocalists this song brings a really fun opportunity for working with register changes. Some will feel comfortable belting the higher parts while some will automatically mix. Piano teachers- don't be scared to talk about this and help your students experiment with their voice!

Work to keep the tempo of the chords very steady while singing.
